TOPIC 1

The situation in the Sahel and the future of regional peace operations

Maintaining international peace and security in the context of autonomous weapons systems

The Security Council carries primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security. With fifteen members and the veto in play, delegates in this committee negotiate under real constraint: a single permanent member can halt an otherwise unanimous resolution. Expect crisis updates, a demanding pace, and resolutions judged on whether they could survive a real vote.

Full background paper coming soon.

The Secretariat will publish the complete guide — including the history of the question, bloc positions and questions a resolution must answer — before the conference. Delegates should begin their own research in the meantime.
